“I care about people and quality - quality of life for people, quality of planning outcomes and quality of customer service. I plan with my head and my heart!”

I have been a qualified practicing planner since 1992 and am very experienced in both public and private sector work, including the lodgement and assessment of Development Applications, Rezoning Proposals, Community Engagement and Plan Development.

I also hold significant experience in planning for World Heritage Listed Areas, including Kakadu National Park and Lord Howe Island and have a keen interest in Place Making and Urban Design.

I hold both a Masters Degree and Bachelor (with Honours) Degree in Town Planning.

Together with my husband Peter, I established ALL ABOUT PLANNING with a base in Port Macquarie, NSW in 2003. We work in all aspects of planning, all over Australia.

Town Planning is a tool for communities and government to bring about change in positive ways, particularly in relation to new development. Good Town Planners know our communities well and seek to care for them. I love my profession and seek to promote town planning wherever I go.

Peter and I have developed a reputation as a highly experienced boutique planning consultancy of integrity and quality. The vast majority of our work is obtained through personnel recommendation of our company by existing clients to others.

Prior to setting up AAP, I worked in country NSW and then Sydney as a Town Planner in a variety of positions including Special Projects Officer for the Local Government & Shires Association of NSW, which is the peak representative body for local councils in NSW.

I am a Certified Practising Planner through the Planning Institute of Australia.

ALL ABOUT PLANNING Service Pledge: ‘Quality planning outcomes through personal service by experienced professionals.’
